

“The Church stands with the unborn, their mothers and the majority of Americans in our abhorrence of late-term abortions. The Pain-Capable Unborn Child Protection Act is a wonderful opportunity to protect the lives of unborn children who, according to medical evidence, can feel and respond to pain. It also protects their mothers who could become victims of risky procedures associated with abortions performed after 20 weeks. I ask all Catholics to join me in support of this legislation by contacting your legislators to pass this common-sense law.”
