What does it mean to be missionary?

How can you better live as a missionary disciple of Jesus?

Why did Jesus send his disciples out two by two? How can you follow this model in your ministry?

Reflect on the section of Vatican II's Apostolicam Actuositatem (Decree on the Apostolate of the Laity) that Dr. Healy quoted. Because they live in the midst of the world, laypeople are called to bring the Gospel message of Jesus Christ into all areas of culture: family life, business, government, education, medicine, music, literature, media, sports, etc. Essentially, laypeople are to bring Christ to the secular sphere so that those who do not yet know Jesus Christ can encounter him through us. This means that I am called to be an evangelist, day in and day out, in all my interactions. I can do this not only in how I raise my family, but also by befriending my neighbor or co-worker so as to win them over. What strikes you about this quote? How do you live this out in your own life?

How does the Holy Spirit impact your work in evangelization?
